About the Carbon Market & Investor Forum

Building on the success of the inaugural Forum in 2023, and an evolving international carbon marketplace, CMI will return to Singapore in 2024.

International market linkages and voluntary climate action continue to ramp up, bolstered by renewed ambition through NDC's submitted to the UNFCCC. New technologies, services and guidance are coming online, creating new market opportunities and efficiencies.

This international industry must keep up the momentum to decarbonise the global economy. The Forum will build relationships, foster new discussions, and connect professionals, investors and policy-makers from across the region.

Event background

Singapore is well-positioned as a hub to convene high-impact professionals from government, business, investment, and service and technology provision.

The inaugural Forum in 2023 was a sell-out event, garnering significant regional interest demonstrated through support and participation from various Singaporean and Australian Government Ministries, global banks, law firms, carbon service providers, investors, traders, industry, research experts and more.

With over 150 member organisations across industries engaging in carbon markets and emissions reduction activities, and a highly regarded events calendar, CMI is poised to engage a large and well-informed audience.

The Forum will be held as a one and a half day in person event on August 15 & 16, 2024 at the Parkroyal Collection, Pickering, Singapore.

2024 Event Program

The Singapore Carbon Market & Investor Forum will be held as a one and a half day event on August 15 & 16, 2024.

The three general themes have been selected to provide a framework for the plenaries, workshops and networking events.

Day 1 of the program will focus on the key themes Nature-Based Solutions, as well as International Linkages, with relevant workshops, plenaries and networking opportunities. The day will conclude with a Forum dinner.

Day 2 will serve as an Investor and Finance forum, with opportunities for commercial interaction and networking through targeted workshops, and a networking luncheon.

Three Key Themes across plenaries, workshops and networking events.

1. Nature-Based Solutions

Across the globe, nature-based solutions hold opportunities to boost climate resilience and draw down carbon at scale.

As carbon markets evolve, so too does our capacity for holistic climate repair as we consider carbon as part of a picture, including biodiversity and other ecosystem services.

2. International Linkages

Now is the time for seizing new investment opportunities that will achieve emissions reduction and associated co-benefits on a global scale.

Countries are rapidly advancing on international trade and cooperative mechanisms, such as the Singapore-Australia Green Economy Agreement, and article 6 implementations.

Explore these advances, and collaborate on new opportunities.

3. Investor & Finance Forum

Finance and investment is key to the international low-carbon transition.

As new services and technologies are operationalised within the carbon market and ecosystem, we convene those leading the charge to spotlight their advances and create opportunities for investment in the transition.

The 2024 Forum will feature a renewed focus on showcasing investment opportunities in the market.

Program & Themes to be confirmed closer to the event.
